22.022 Miles

In 44 days, a distance of 22,022 miles, without stopping the motor—that's the longest motor not stop record in the history of the automobile industry. This record has jiest been made by a stock Maxwell Touring car. It is authentic, being held under continuous official observation.

For 44 days and nights, this Maxwell stock car was driven over city and country roads, averaging more than 500 miles daily—the engine never stopping, the car stopping only long enough to take on gasoline and oil.

Canadian roads demand an automobile that will "stand up" under the most strenuous conditions—an automobile of power, endurance, dependability.

The Maxwell is now the world's "stand up" champion. And it is finished at Windsor to sell complete at $850. You have no "extras" to buy.

Write for illustrated, descriptive booklet of the Maxwell no-stop performance.
